Roomfoss Turn To CTS For Professional Advice About Intruder And Fire Alarms

When King's Lynn-based manufacturing company, Roomfoss Control Systems, moved to new, larger premises and needed help with security and fire alarm systems, there was no question that they would automatically turn, once again, to CTS for professional advice and a quality installation.

Roomfoss Control Systems Limited design and manufacture low voltage control equipment from their North Lynn premises. In business for over 25 years, Roomfoss have customers far and wide - from local companies in West Norfolk to international customers across the world.

Roomfoss Control Systems' Clare Dobing, explains: "Here at Roomfoss we take Health and Safety and security issues very seriously. Unauthorised access or fire not only causes damage to property, and unsettles our staff, it affects our ability to provide an excellent service to our customers, which we pride ourselves on and is key to our business.

"CTS are a local company whom we have dealt with over many years. There was no question that when we moved to our new, larger premises on the North Lynn Industrial Estate, that we would automatically turn once again to CTS for professional advice and a quality installation.

"It is hard to quantify the value of peace of mind, but in a nutshell our CTS system provides reassurance that our premises and equipment are secure. Coupling this with the excellent after-sales support offered by CTS allows us to concentrate on our core business with confidence."

Clare concluded: "Without doubt we would recommend CTS to anyone considering investing in an electronic security system."

Monitor Your Property Wherever You Are!

With the latest security monitoring solutions from CTS Security you can make sure your property is secure no matter where you are in the world!

Ideal for protecting outbuildings, remote offices and storage facilities, and especially effective for protecting against theft of items outside such as oil and fuel, this solution enables you to see real-time, live feeds from your security cameras directly on your smartphone.

The system can alert you when it detects motion, a detection beam is tripped or an alarm is triggered, or you can simply log on to see what is happening at any time - ideal for checking that safety measures are being adhered to in large warehouses and factories.

And you may not even need to change your existing systems. Our remote monitoring system can often be fitted to existing CCTV systems!
